UNITED COMMUNITY BANKS, INC.
REPORTS SPECIAL LOAN LOSS PROVISION

BLAIRSVILLE, GA, October 12, 2011 – United Community Banks, Inc. (NASDAQ: UCBI) announced today that it will record a special loan loss provision of $25.0 million during the third quarter of 2011 related to its largest single loan relationship. The borrower continues to be current with principal and interest payments as well as related expenses for the underlying collateral, including the requirement to maintain adequate carrying costs in a collateral account at United. However, after further reassessing this $76.6 million commercial loan relationship, it was determined that the ultimate repayment of these loans through the sale of the underlying collateral is unlikely at this time, primarily the result of disposition activity below originally expected levels.

“Even though the collateral accounts would be sufficient to cover debt service requirements and related costs for another five to six quarters, we believe it is prudent to classify these loans as nonperforming at quarter-end due to the uncertainties about sources of repayment in the future,” stated Jimmy Tallent, president and chief executive officer. “We plan to obtain updated appraisals in the fourth quarter and believe that the $25.0 million specific reserve will be sufficient to cover any charge-offs to fair market values.”

“On the positive side,” Tallent continued, “excluding this addition to nonperforming loans and the special loan loss provision of $25.0 million, or 26 cents per diluted share, we expect to report earnings of 10 cents per diluted share which is equal to consensus and slightly above the second quarter of 2011. We will comment further on credit quality and earnings for the third quarter during our scheduled conference call on October 27th.”
